Statement of Significance The house was built in 1932 for Dr. Berton Fleming. It was later owned by Dr. Francis and Birdie Longaker. Longaker was mayor of Olympia from 1934 to 1937. He died in 1938.

Description of Physical Appearance Fronted by a trimmed hedge and ornamental shrubbery, the Longaker House is a large two-story stucco structure built in the Spanish Colonial style and resting on a poured concrete foundation. The main portion of the house has a hip roof covered with ceramic tiles, while a one-story flat-roofed portion extends from the front (west) facade, and the garage at the south end of the house also has a flat roof. A porch with scored concrete floor leads to the arched wooden entry door at the southwest corner. Fenestration consists of casement windows with leaded glass panes; first story windows are shaded by metal awnings and second story windows are fronted by ornamental wrought iron balconies.
